ALL'S WELL

What happens when artists and medics mix? Camberwell, home to a world-renowned art school and three major medical institutions – including the UK's first purpose built hospital for mental health – is the place to find out.

To catalyze the reaction, this year's Camberwell Arts Festival explores the theme of All's Well – the motto adopted by the Metropolitan Borough of Camberwell when they were granted the right to a coat of arms in 1901.

For nine days, Camberwell becomes a crucible of artistic and scientific experimentation as arts and health practitioners collaborate to explore the unique mix of the area. Part science lab, part art studio, All's Well offers a varied programme of arts market, exhibitions, events, talks, walks, workshops and open studios as we invite you to take the Camberwell Arts Cure.

Now in its 24th year, the Camberwell Arts Festival has grown out of and celebrates the vibrant artistic communities of Camberwell. It is developed as a partnership between local artists, residents and community groups and is co-ordinated by Camberwell Arts, a registered charity that aims to promote the arts in Camberwell – and Camberwell through the arts.

10 STUBBIN' PEAK EXHIBITION

Ground Floor, 6 Graces Mews, London, SE5 8JF
SAT 16TH – SUN 17TH JUNE 11.00 – 17.00

In the shifting mists of Stubbin' Peak wandered artists, half blinded by the weather. Stumbling into one another, they swapped bags, found hope in this confusion and began to cleave paths through the scumbled undergrowth. The paths were sometimes circular, sometimes dead ends, and often invisible. Over time, these came to describe their actions and hesitation, and have come to form a map of the territory. Repeated patterns have become like highways, clearings have formed where they pause to swap bags, notes, thoughts for the next leg.

Their work has formed a library of ideas – documented in small films, drawings and collage. Each meeting, they unpack and develop one – using projection and shadows onto multiple surfaces. As ideas are jostled about in the mobile library, they become inflected with the other's thoughts, so that the outcomes are like gates, an idea first mounted, then offset by the passage of others. FREE

14 MY BREATH: GLASS BLOWING AND PHOTOGRAPHY BY IMOGEN DAVIS

The London Arts Board
(corner of Peckham Road and Vestry Road, SE5)
SUN 20TH MAY – SUN 24TH JUNE OPEN 24/7

This project looks at breath as the defining action between living and dying. The first breath a person takes is seen as the most important one they will take in their lives - marking their first urgent moment of independence and beginning a habit that will last a lifetime. However, to document breath within photography is to capture something invisible in a wholly visual way - practically impossible. For these images Davis learnt how to blow her own glass, making physical recreations of her breath that now have memories of their own. FREE londonartsboard.blogspot.co.uk

JANE HIGGINBOTTOM

Jane Higginbottom's work is about change in the environment and examining this in her making. She is also interested in place and time, specifically making work in relation to site. She is currently fascinated by trees and the time span of their lives in relation to our human history. janehigginbottom.co.uk

VLADA PREDELINA & NATALIE MITCHELL

Predelina's artwork currently explores the idea of "Home" defined by Spatial, Temporal, Material and Relational. She makes oil painting, video and domestic objects. Mitchell creates work through the mediums of film and photography. Her work has a focus on identity, appreciation of otherness and the aesthetics of the human experience.

JAN MALASZEK

The encounter of site and sight, of topography and fictional narrative, and of the apparent veracity of the photographic with painterly subjectivity has created a fascinating space. A kind of space where all kinds of elements can overlap and co-exist whilst not escaping into fantasy - an over painting of reality rather than a denial of it. janmalaszek.com

MARTIN MASTERSON

Working on fine grade watercolour paper, Masterson uses coloured pastel crushed into a fine dust, which is applied to the paper by hand.

STEPHEN READ

His paintings are collages - gestures, events and vistas from other sources - pre-focused through many other lenses. This process, and the economy of Stephen's painting technique, reduce detail to the bare essentials yet paradoxically produce a painting filled with immediately recognisable, familiar narratives from our collective experience. ### MR & MRS HOUSE / 1 EMPRESS MEWS

From nutty knitting to quirky pottery, cat mats to place mats, Mr & Mrs House collaborate with talented makers to create exclusive and lovely things. mrandmrhouse.co.uk

EMANUELE GORI / 2 EMPRESS MEWS

Emanuele Gori's multi-limbed figures lend themselves to complex geometrical compositions – the empty spaces they create around them within the frame, are as important as the figures themselves, in the same way as the space that surrounds us is so vital to our own well being. emanuelegori.com

PAUL DRAPER / 2 EMPRESS MEWS

Paul Draper specializes in architectural drawings, most notably aerial views and perspectives of buildings that were either never built or built but subsequently demolished. Working mainly in pen and ink and watercolour, his drawings reflect his passion for perspective and architectural detail. draperdrawings.com

KARTEGRAPHIK / 6 EMPRESS MEWS

Kip works through paper cutting to render highly local and minimalist pieces of art. Paper cutting is a relatively unusual technique for art creation: at once sculptural, delicate and almost 2D, it opens up interesting questions about how paper can be used, displayed and engaged with in ways beyond painting and drawing.

kartegraphik.com  Kartegraphik

GABRIELA SZULMAN / 6 EMPRESS MEWS

Gabriela's work draws on memory, nostalgia and the reassembly of found imagery through collage and decoupage. She uses these techniques to create original pictures and decorative objects, plus a collection of prints and quirky greeting cards. Gabriela also teaches creative up-cycling workshops from her studio.

gabrielaszulman.com  gabrielaszulman

PAULINE AMPHLETT / 8 EMPRESS MEWS

Pauline is a print maker who works with a number of techniques - etching and aquatint, linoprint, drypoint and monoprint. More recently Pauline has experimented with screen and textile printing. Pauline describes printmaking as an adventure of expression. paulineamphlettprints.com
